INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE

Fundamental Asset Management offers a portfolio service that addresses both the risks and rewards associated with investing in AIM. A dedicated value focused AIM portfolio, investing in AIM quoted companies which have demonstrable earnings, dividend yield and reduced stock volatility.

This compelling tax planning method, which after the short 2 year qualification period gains total relief from Inheritance Tax, avoids the costs associated with forming a trust or the risks associated with gifts and assets remain under the control of the holder and easily realisable.

WHY CHOOSE THE AIM IHT INCOME PORTFOLIO?

The fall in the share prices of many cash generative AIM companies, many of which have a long track record of dividend payments, has served to highlight the income potential from AIM, not to mention the modest valuations of many companies previously considered for their growth appeal.

The strong rebound in dividend payments (including many special dividends) and steep decline in share prices in 2022, means that the dividend yields of well-established AIM companies have risen substantially, to levels not seen in the 19 years Fundamental has been managing AIM portfolios. Many of these current AIM high-yielders also have considerable growth attractions.

There are many aspects to consider when assessing the income appeal of AIM companies, however, just because the dividend yield is high doesn't mean the company no longer has capital growth attractions as well – it's possible to find both from AIM's many excellent companies.
